"Efficiency Unlocked: Time-Saving Marketing Strategies for Independent Retailers"

Ryan Sensenbrenner

Friday, September 13, 2024 – 10:15am-11:30am – Miami 1, 2

This insightful lecture is designed for Independent Retailers looking to revolutionize their approach to marketing with a focus on efficiency and effectiveness. In today's fast-paced retail environment, time is of the essence. Learning how to streamline marketing efforts without sacrificing quality or customer experience is key to staying ahead. This session will provide attendees with actionable time-saving tips and techniques that can be immediately implemented to enhance customer engagement, market the store more effectively, and ultimately grow the business.

Participants will explore a variety of topics, including automating social media management to maintain a consistent online presence with minimal daily input, leveraging email marketing campaigns that can be set up in advance to nurture customer relationships, and using data analytics tools to quickly identify and act on consumer trends.

The lecture will also cover the importance of creating a seamless omnichannel experience that saves time for both the retailer and the customer, by integrating online and offline marketing efforts in a cohesive manner.

Practical advice on organizing in-store events that generate buzz without extensive planning will also be provided. By the end of this session, Independent Retailers will have a toolkit of strategies to improve customer experience, market their store more efficiently, and foster business growth, all while freeing up time to focus on other aspects of running their business.

Brands, Retailers, and Consumers: The Power to Create a Thriving Future

Zen Honeycutt

Friday, September 13, 2024 – 10:15am-11:30am – Daytona 1, 2

Zen Honeycutt, Founding Executive Director of Moms Across America, a national network of millions of unstoppable and discerning moms, will address the importance of consumer choices and collaboration with brands and retailers and how they impact the future of our country and our planet. With a focus on supporting organic and natural brands to be wildly successful, Zen will share what discerning consumers want and how, with brands and retailers, we can create not only a cleaner, safer, more nutrient-dense food supply but a healthier, more prosperous nation and thriving world.

- Why are the ingredients you choose so important to discerning mothers?
- What impact do certain ingredients have on children, the future of farming, and our country?
- How can your brand and retail store market your products to communicate your commitment to a thriving planet?

Speaker Bio: Zen is an international speaker who has been on tour in Australia, New Zealand, and Japan, and has presented in Switzerland, China, Maui, France, The Hague, and all across the USA. For years, she has been speaking with diverse groups around the globe on health, food, and the need to take action to improve their quality of life. Drawing from experience, she addresses the universal concerns of what we believe holds us back, how we can motivate not only our own families but our communities at large, and how to move beyond what we think is possible.

- Educate your audience about health and food
- Encourage them to break free from constraints
- Inspire them to take action to improve their health
- Support volunteer involvement in their community

Zen is also available for consulting to non-profits, organizations, and companies which support the expansion of the organic market and sustainable, toxin-free lifestyles. She offers authentic feedback on your current plan or products in relation to the needs and desires of the busy American Mom. In addition: Zen Honeycutt is the Founder and Director of Moms Across America, a non-profit National Coalition of Unstoppable Moms. With the motto "Empowered Moms, Healthy Kids," Moms Across America has grown rapidly with over 600 leaders have created 1,000+ community events in all 50 states in the first 5 years of inception. Zen has three boys with allergies and autism symptoms which greatly improved when they went GMO-Free and organic. She discovered that thousands of Moms are seeing the same results. MAA is expanding to Mothers Across the World with co-creator Vandana Shiva.

Three Questions Disruptors Must Ask Themselves

G. Michael Maddock

Friday, September 13, 2024 – 12:00pm-2:00pm – Sun Ballroom A Business Disruptors are often celebrated for their courage and vision, but Mike Maddock thinks that much of their success is rooted in the questions they ask themselves; questions that reveal new opportunities that the rest of us often miss.

This keynote presentation is based on Mike's best-selling book Plan D. It is a highly entertaining talk that focuses on the unexpected, replicable, and generative questions enlightened leaders learn to ask themselves and their teams.

Let's Talk About It: Brand Blocking v Structure/Function

Angela Bozo & Sarah Super

Friday, September 13, 2024 – 2:15pm-3:30pm – Miami 1, 2

Angela and Sarah will present both merchandising strategies with pictures, navigation and sales data- each of us will give a pro and con overview looking at customer demographics, space allocation and the potential for education on the floor. We will choose INFRA retailers that are solidly merchandising in one of these areas and have them present the why behind their strategy and why it works for them, any considerations they took and customer feedback from the floor.

Speaker Bio: Angela Bozo is the Director of Member Programs at INFRA, joining the team in late 2021 with extensive experience in grocery retail, customer experience and training. Angela was part of the leadership team that grew New Seasons Market to 20+ locations operating in 3 regions, managing a specialized culinary team at all stores that focused on elevating customer service and increasing overall product knowledge. She is proud to have contributed to New Seasons Market becoming the world's first B Corp grocer. In 2018, she transitioned to IDDBA where she led the creation of the Charcuterie Professional Certification as well as oversaw the IDDBA-IRI partnership that resulted in Integrated Fresh, a data-based hierarchy for perishable departments. Angela is a lifelong learner, self-described grocery nerd and finds joy in ideating and creating resources and education to continue to evolve the grocery shopping experience for retailers and customers.

Speaker Bio: Sarah Super is the Wellness Strategist at INFRA, bringing a wealth of experience in wellness, encompassing retail, brands, and distribution. Her journey in the wellness industry began in 2006 at a natural food co-op in Rochester, MN, where she played a key role in the leadership team during a significant expansion phase, growing the store from a small team of 10 employees to over 50. Subsequently, Sarah served as a General Manager at a co-op north of Minneapolis before originally joining INFRA as its inaugural Wellness Category Manager in 2014. During her tenure, she passionately supported INFRA retailers by collaborating with brands to drive promotions and foster category growth. To gain insights into the brand perspective, Sarah transitioned to work with various brands over several years. Her roles included managing partnerships with distributors, brokers, and retail support, along with overseeing product assortment strategies. Returning to INFRA, Sarah brings an intense dedication to empowering members to excel in their wellness departments. In her spare time, she immerses herself in independent grocery stores, continually seeking out the latest trends, products, and displays. Sarah's unwavering commitment to supporting independent retailers fuels her desire to innovate and elevate the wellness industry.

Increasing Access: Tax Treatment of Dietary Supplements

Steve Mister, Esq., CAE, CRN President

Friday, September 13, 2024 – 3:45pm-4:15pm – Sun Ballroom B

CRN's president & CEO, Steve Mister, will share the industry's efforts to recognize dietary supplements as "qualified medical expenses," a designation that will allow consumers to use their Flexible Spending Accounts and Healthcare Savings Accounts to make pre-tax purchases of these products. Steve will examine how this change will increase access and make supplements more affordable, why some forces oppose this legislation, and how supplement retailers can support efforts to pass this legislation in Congress.

Speaker Bio: Mr. Mister has been President & CEO of the Council for Responsible Nutrition (CRN), the leading trade association for the dietary supplement and functional food industry, since 2005. Under his leadership, CRN has transformed the industry with highly successful self-regulatory initiatives, a self-regulatory advertising review program, and consumer education programs that have helped garner consumer trust and grow industry sales. CRN has been the leading advocate for the supplement industry at the international, federal and state levels, often recognized as the most credible and trustworthy voice of the industry.

Mister holds a law degree from the College of William and Mary, an M.A. in Political Communication from the University of Maryland, and a B.S. from Towson University.

Enhancing Digestive Health: The Role of the Microbiome, Brain, & Immune System Breakfast Sponsored by Bluebonnet

Carl Germano

Saturday, September 14 – 8:15am-10:15am – Sun Ballroom A

Digestive health is a cornerstone of overall well-being, yet millions of Americans struggle with digestive issues. In fact, digestive diseases affect 60 to 70 million people in the U.S., leading to significant discomfort and impacting quality of life. This lecture will delve into the essential roles of prebiotics, probiotics, and digestive enzymes. Additionally, nutrients addressing the health of the brain and immune system in promoting healthy digestion and alleviating common digestive problems will be explored. The essential role of all of these nutrients are to beneficially affect the host by stimulating the growth and activity of beneficial bacteria in the gut in order to maintain a balanced gut microbiota, protect against harmful bacteria, and reduce inflammation. For many, digestive enzymes may be necessary to aid in the digestion of carbohydrates, proteins, and fats, and are particularly beneficial for individuals with enzyme deficiencies. Moreover, the brain and immune system are intricately linked to digestive health. The gut-brain axis is a bidirectional communication pathway where the brain can influence gut function and vice versa. Stress and anxiety can exacerbate digestive issues, highlighting the importance of mental health in maintaining digestive wellness. Additionally, a significant portion of the immune system resides in the gut, where it plays a crucial role in defending against pathogens and regulating inflammatory responses. Join us to explore how integrating prebiotics, probiotics, and digestive enzymes into daily routines can support a healthy digestive system, as well as enhance immune function, and contribute to overall mental and physical well-being.

Speaker Bio: Carl Germano, CNS, CDN is a NY Board Certified Clinical Nutritionist, master's degree in clinical nutrition from New York University, and Vice President of Verdant Oasis. In addition, he has 4 decades of product development/education experience with many companies in the trade including Solgar, Country Life, Bluebonnet, Ajinomoto, Inergetics, Nutratch, and others. Today, his efforts are focused on providing the dietary supplement industry with the next generation of clinically important hemp based phytocannabinoid ingredients. A prolific author with several bestselling trade books including his most recent "Road To Ananda: The Simple Guide To The Endocannabinoid System, Phytocannabinoids & Your Health".

Not All Mushrooms Are Equal: How to Identify Quality Medicinal Mushroom Supplements

Jme Bonfiglio

Saturday, September 14, 2024 – 1:00pm-2:00pm – Exhibit Hall

In the largely unregulated industry of mushroom supplements, how can consumers accurately identify high-quality and effective products? Join Jme Bonfiglio to discuss the current standards of the mushroom supplement industry and how her company, WholeSun Wellness, is challenging those standards. You will also learn how to understand mushroom supplement product labels and why growing, processing, and testing are crucial to quality medicinal mushrooms. Jme will also go over health benefits for whole body support of medicinal mushrooms.

Speaker Bio: Jme Bonfiglio, the founder of WholeSun Wellness, believes in the power of mushrooms after decades of personal and professional experience. She has pioneered new ways of growing, processing, and testing mushrooms and is building the largest vertically-integrated medicinal mushroom operation in North America.

As a prominent speaker at international conferences and festivals, and the organizer of the Utah Fungi Festival, she's a leading figure in the community. Through WholeSun Wellness, she also facilitates access to medicinal mushroom extracts for those facing health challenges, significantly impacting complementary medicine.

Jme's commitment to the environment is evident in her support for research into fungi-based solutions, like bio-degrading plastics and sustainable building materials.

Health Freedom & Advocacy in the 21st Century

Matt Warnock

Saturday, September 14, 2024 – 3:00pm-4:00pm – Exhibit Hall

In the 30 years since DSHEA, we've learned that every human has different genetics, epigenetics, microbiome, medical history and conditions, environment, concerns, and desires. Yet the health care monopoly assumes we're all the same, limits choices, and supports high prices. Free speech and free markets are the solution, and modern advocacy can effect change—again!

Speaker Bio: Matt Warnock is an accidental herbalist. After earning his MBA and law degree (Juris Doctor), he worked as an attorney, litigator, and business consultant until 2000. He then joined RidgeCrest Herbals, which was founded by his father in 1993, he now owns it. At RidgeCrest Herbals he learned herbal medicine by immersion, focusing on dose-response characteristics of complex herbal formulas. He has two U.S. patents for herbal formulations and methods, and a book he wrote with Benton Bramwell, ND is now nearing publication. They have also co-authored several articles for medical journals. Matt lives near Salt Lake City with his wife, Carol; they are the parents of three children and four grandchildren.
